

Does Good Exist?

Most people's ignorance of the truth stems from the fact that they choose to ignore it. Not because it's not available. Not because it's not put forth. But because they simply choose to ignore it. For sometimes truth hurts.

-Clarence Williams

Faith is often the boast of the man too lazy to critically inquire, investigate, research and analyze, and/or too afraid, weak and/or dependent to abandon false beliefs and accept truth, which, for some, may be the harsh reality, but reality none the less.

-Clarence Williams

myspace.com/sometruthhurts